Melksham, June 15th 2009

Dear Customer,

We are pleased to inform you that, from the 1st of July 2009, Dunlaw Engineering will be changing its name to EXSTO UK Ltd and will be trading as:

EXSTO

DUNLAW became a subsidiary of EXSTO in March 2006. EXSTO is a French global industrial company specialized in design and production of engineered parts from polyurethanes and thermoplastics technologies. The company is located in two plants in France, one in China and one in UK and has a leading position in polyurethane moulding.

The synergy between the companies created the most beneficial partnership, as the acquisition of DUNLAW ENGINEERING represented a strategic decision to develop our position on the Offshore Oil and Gas market.

The final step following the acquisition of Dunlaw is to complete the brand integration of our companies under one global name "EXSTO".
The management structure will remain unchanged.
